

Clinical Internship Opportunities at The Sky Center

The New Mexico Suicide Intervention Project and Santa Fe Public Schools are pleased to announce internship openings at The Sky Center for the academic year 2018-2019.

The Sky Center is available to graduate level students in counseling, psychology or social work programs.

The Sky Center offers state of the art training in short term, practical counseling models that integrate research and prepare students to meet the current demands in the field of human services. The Sky Center uses one-way mirrors, videotaping, live and individual supervision to enhance and foster excellent clinical skills for working with teens and youth in a family context.

The Sky Center offers free counseling to families in the Santa Fe area. Our referrals come mainly from schools, courts, and former clients. Interns will gain experience with issues of family or peer conflict, mood management, suicide behaviors, custody and post divorce, school failure, and addiction.

In addition to learning a family systems model, interns will have the opportunity to work in a public-school setting facilitating counseling support groups for students. The groups are co-facilitated with a supervisor who will coach and guide you to develop your skills in this dynamic format.

The Sky Center offers full time and part time Internship positions. We meet the New Mexico Counseling and Therapy Practice Board AND the New Mexico Social Work Licensing Board requirements for both practicum and internship.

The Center is open from 4:00 to 8:00 p.m., Monday through Thursday and Friday 2:00 to 6:00 pm for family sessions and 9:00am – 4:00 pm throughout the week to accommodate the administrative responsibilities of both staff and students.

If you want to be known as an excellent clinician, consider the rigorous and rewarding training offered by The Sky Center.
